FAIRBANK MEMORIAL

WALK  BIKE  RUN

31st Annual

Saturday, March 7, 2020

Start and finish: Rodin Sculpture Garden (corner of Roth Way and Lomita Drive)

An avid runner and an inspiring person, Bill Fairbank was Professor of Physics from 1959 until his death in 1989. This is an event sponsored by the Stanford Physics Department and is open to the general public.

All are welcome!

No entry fee and free refreshments

The winner, as in years past, will be the runner, walker or bicyclist, etc. whose actual time is (fractionally) closest to his or her predicted time. (Of course, all timing devices are retained by the starter; or leave your watches, cell phones, Garmins, etc. at home.) Runners and walkers can take Roth Way to the Campus Drive-Junipero Serra loop (4.2 miles), while bicyclists can use the Old Page Mill-Arastradero Rd.-Alpine Rd. loop (11.5 miles)

Maps will be provided.
